Hour of decision

In 1934, Oswald Spengler wrote in "The Hour of Decision," which was banned by the Nazis, that "the whites in general are under attack by the collective mass of the 'colored' population of the earth." MEP Vladimír Železný, who promoted multiculturalism as CEO of TV Nova, used the scare of an EU order to move Somalian aliens from Greece to the CR as a reason to reject the Lisbon treaty. The CR would lose the right to veto such a decision, he told TV Prima. The CR is tightening its immigration rules, yet the Statistical Office expects 1.84m foreigners to move in by 2065. Without an order from above, Czechs probably wouldn't accept it. Does it make them racist? Or survivalist? Would Americans be racist if they opposed a debt-for-equity swap that gave China half the Federal land west of the Mississippi? "What if," Spengler asked, "class war and race war joined forces to make an end of the white world?"
