Less is more

You don't have to be a libertarian or anarchist to recognize that sometimes the best government is no government. As the Czechs say, he who does nothing can't screw anything up. The cabinet of Jan Fischer is making a name for itself by doing very little. It's improving the CR's image abroad simply by being nondescript and by keeping its pants on. It might also succeed in cutting some of the fat out of the state budget and in delaying some of the big, shady deals that attract all the usual suspects. Only another IPB-like scandal could probably turn the public permanently against the Fischer team. Voters, though, won't have much time to get used to the blandness.

One election campaign just ended and another is gearing up. Only the lobbyists, advertising-related companies and political pundits are salivating. Time is running out, but putting off the early elections is still doable and would be a hit with voters.
