

the fleet sheet's final word

No. 2503 Free subscriptions at subscribe@fsfinalword.com Mon., Dec. 6, 2010

Wicked cables

Czech politicians and commentators are rather nonchalant about the WikiLeaks revelations. Foreign Minister Karel Schwarzenberg said he isn't attributing much importance to them, because we all speak differently with friends from the way we do publicly. Including this time, presumably. If he isn't taking the matter seriously, he should be, because of the potential for real embarrassment. The U.S.'s latest country report on human rights mentions corruption more than 30 times and criticizes the interior ministry for "whitewashing wrongdoing" or prematurely ending investigations. It would be a miracle if some of the 1,270 remaining cables from Prague didn't provide greater detail. Of particular interest could be a meeting at the U.S. embassy between Martin Barták and the head of General Dynamics, which everyone in the defense community already knows about but which hasn't made it into the news. Czech politicians and byznysmeni should be praying to the god they don't believe in that the rest of the leaks will be squelched.

IMAGINE MORE WITH YOUR PERSONAL STRATEGY COACH

The Insider's Guide to Coaching for Managers and Business Owners

How to get the most out of coaching – and your life

ABR Executive Coaching
Annette B. Reissfelder, Ph.D.
anette@edgeforyou.com | 408-442-1234 for personal
tel: +49 (0)89 - 535 7400 | fax: +49 (0)89 - 535 7432 | mobile: +49 (0)89 - 947 55157
© 2010 Annette B. Reissfelder - An Edge For You Executive Coaching

A comprehensive, in-depth look into the coaching relationship that should be on the desk of every forward thinking professional.

Click here to visit the website and order your free copy