

the fleet sheet's final word

No. 3178

Free subscriptions at www.fsfinalword.com Thur., Jan. 30, 2014

Love that hat!

Even on cold winter days, only about half the people on the streets of Prague wear some form of head covering. Some people don't think they need one, some consider it uncool, and others prefer not to mess up their hair. More than half of those who do indeed wear a hat tend to put on some sort of brimless or pull-down cap before venturing into the elements. About 20% don a baseball cap or similar billed cap. Surprisingly popular are hoods or hoodies, either attached to winter parkas or worn under an outer garment. Russian fur hats are rare, as are formal hats. People in suits and dresses have the biggest problem. How to look dignified while staying warm? Development Minister Věra Jourová attacked it with style last week, but Industry Minister Jan Mládek ran afoul of the fashion police at Czech TV by wearing a pull-on cap to his meeting at the Castle. Miloš Zeman is so full of wisdom, perhaps he could advise the new ministers on how to keep their heads warm. Presidents, after all, are often the ones who set fashion trends.

Read this later today in Czech  Find us on Facebook

 CFA Society
Czech Republic

CFA Society

FORECASTING

DINNER 2014

13 February 2014 at 17:30

Under the Auspices of Czech National Bank Governor, Miroslav Singer

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS:

Miroslav Singer

Governor, Czech National Bank

Anatole Kaletsky

Chairman, Institute for New Economic Thinking
Reuters and New York Times columnist

Society Sponsors:

Building a better
working world

 Asset Management

INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT

Partners for PR and Forecast Survey:

 partners in communications

HERZMANN

Media Partners:

 ekonom

 HOSPODÁRSKÉ NOVINY

 IHned.cz

—fleet sheet's final word