

Zaorálek's plea to the Americans

~~Dear Mr. Ambassador,~~ Dear Andy, I send you this handwritten note by way of a trusted friend because I can't take any chances. Please understand, I'm under constant scrutiny due to the ČSSD congress. The knives are out, and PPF/O2 might even be listening to my phone calls. I've had to get tougher in my rhetoric to prove my anti-American and pro-Russian credibility. I wanted to warn you, but the old drunk's speech about the "super Holocaust" took me by surprise, and I had to ad lib it. I hope it didn't bother you the way I criticized the lingering Bush foreign policy.

After all, your boss did it in the State of the Union address too. Please don't give up on me. I was worried to see that you visited Babiš at his farm. He's just playing with you; I'm the real counterbalance to Zeman/Sobotka/Mládek/Dlouhý. I know I messed things up with Washington by siding with the Russians on the radar, but I've worked that off, haven't I? Maybe I'll even fire Drulák. Please bear with me, Andy. I'll have more flexibility after the party elections. I promise. Your most loyal friend, Luboš.
