

A daily e-mail bulletin of Czech wit & wisdom. For your free subscription, write to subscribe@fsfinalword.com

Totalitarianism lite

Violating the 9pm curfew is subject to a fine of up to Kč 20,000, but the police won't enforce it if people stay in stores until the new mandatory closing time, effective today, of 9pm. By stating this, Health Min. Jan Blatný in essence confirmed that the objective of the government's covid-19 measures isn't so much to see that they are obeyed. Most people are law-abiding citizens and do indeed honor the rules, but the government isn't going out of its way to crack down on the scofflaws. If it did, people would understand better what is happening to them. The West is in the stage of gradually breaking the will of the people, with the help of the vast majority of the media and the elite of society. Czechs have had their rights curtailed more this year than at any other time in their 1,000-year history, and anyone who objects is ostracized. However, brutal enforcement of these unfreedoms won't begin until the next stage, once a dangerous minority has woken up to the new reality.

Read this later today in Czech  Find us on Facebook

PUBLIC RELATIONS AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS
BASED ON KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE.

DIBIM partners in communications
Connected to Professionals Worldwide