Covid death/vaccinated

Of every 100,000 Czechs who get a covid-19 vaccination, 43.96 will contract the disease and exhibit symptoms. This precise number is based on the results of clinical trials from Pfizer and BioNTech, as approved by the European Medicines Agency. (Eight out of 18,198 vaccinated people got symptoms.) Another unspecified number of vaccinated Czechs will apparently catch the virus but not show symptoms. About 300 Czechs die every day, so it is only a matter of time before a vaccinated person who exhibits covid symptoms or is infected with the virus departs this earth. The cause of death might not have anything to do with the vaccination or infection, but the government has so far listed anyone dying with a corona infection as a covid death. Given the way epidemiologists like to play fast and loose with the truth, they can now be expected to try to change the rules for people who have been vaccinated. They should instead create a new category: Covid death/vaccinated.
