Narrow travel window for the twice vaccinated

In the Czech health ministry's disinformation campaign, Chair Petr Smejkal of the MeSES council stated that a new vaccine that is effective against mutations can be produced in a matter of weeks. The ministry knew that Smejkal was lying like an epidemiologist, but it spread the fake news anyway in the interest of promoting quick inoculation. Only now, nine months after the delta variant was first identified, have Pfizer and BioNTech announced plans to begin clinical trials for a delta booster shot. In keeping with the gradualness of covid war propaganda, Dr. Anthony Fauci said that Americans don't need a booster right now but that it might be necessary at some point, as the durability of the immune response wanes. Ex-Health Min. Roman Prymula, who is one of the biggest Czech propagators of a third shot, said that revaccination probably won't start before Jan. This means that anyone with just two shots has a narrow window to travel without needing to be tested.
